"Never was better stuff penned": Brontë manuscripts amongst outstanding literary collection saved for the nation

16 December 2021

A £4million NHMF grant – the largest ever given towards the acquisition of literary manuscripts – has helped secure The Honresfield Library and make it publicly available for the first time.

The Honresfield Library was formed towards the end of the 19th century by William Law (1836-1901), a self-made Rochdale mill owner living at Honresfield house, near Haworth. He brought together an exceptional collection of manuscripts in the hands of the Brontë sisters, Jane Austen, Robert Burns and Sir Walter Scott, alongside c.1,400 printed books.

The bulk of the library has remained in private ownership since, inaccessible and rarely examined.

Charlotte Brontë manuscripts. Credit: Sotheby's

A chance for public ownership

After being hidden away for 80 years, the sale of the library was announced by auction house Sotheby's in May 2021. It would take place in three lots.

Fearing it could be bought by private owners – its contents dispersed outside the UK and remain out of public view – Friends of the National Libraries (FNL) stepped in. The charity – devoted to saving the nation's written and printed heritage – encouraged Sotheby's to postpone the sale, giving FNL the chance to raise the substantial sum of £15.3m to purchase the library outright.

Taking a novel approach

FNL convened and led a consortium of eight institutions in England and Scotland (see below) that would receive significant works from the library if their bid was successful. Taking this novel approach meant the entire library would be preserved as a single entity, but its literary treasures would be distributed to appropriate museums, historic houses and libraries across the UK so that as many people as possible could benefit.

They collaborated on an extensive fundraising campaign, widely supported in the UK and overseas.

vol1 4101 triin the hope feering a hard vier f that chufe to come as well, or that. for some other little reasons whi you at meeting - My health was when you were here about what it ry fleep is rather founder hole I am rather is etter th very Mari the is but seakneps a erves has new ; for the hal anxuty or, break, oduces mot Hecho whole men milie when for livo, as is motimes car

Robert Burns, letter to his father (1781). Credit: Sotheby's

More treasures saved thanks to NHMF funding

FNL and the consortium members are delighted to announce today that, thanks to the generosity of many funding bodies and individuals, the fundraising target has been met. The total includes a £4m NHMF grant. Ros Kerslake CBE, NHMF's Chief Executive, said: "We at the National Heritage Memorial Fund are delighted to have supported the campaign to save Honresfield Library with £4million, the largest amount we have ever granted towards an acquisition of literary manuscripts since our formation in 1980.

"This is truly a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to acquire such an outstanding and nationally significant collection. The NHMF is a fund of last resort, and the astonishing array of manuscripts will join over 1,000 heritage treasures saved for the nation.

The NHMF is a fund of last resort, and the astonishing array of manuscripts will join over 1,000 heritage treasures saved for the nation.

Ros Kerslake CBE, NHMF Chief Executive

"With the Honresfield Library now secured for public ownership, organisations across the UK will benefit from these literary gems joining their collections.

"I am proud that this incredible archive will be the last major acquisition we will support under my leadership, before I step down at the end of the year."

Footage courtesy of DCMS.

The largest contribution comes from Sir Leonard Blavatnik, who has match funded the rest of the donations and provided half the asking purchase price. The library will now be known as the Blavatnik Honresfield Library in recognition of his generosity.

Funding was also received from the eight consortium members (see below), The Prince of Wales Charitable Foundation, The Murray Family, Camelot Group, The David Cocke Foundation, The T S Eliot Foundation, Hugh and Catherine Stevenson, The Berkeley Foundation, The Ardeola Trust and the Penchant Foundation.

Many others trusts and foundations contributed anonymously, and personal donations were received from over 1,500 individuals through an online appeal.

A stunning collection

The Brontës

At the heart of the Blavatnik Honresfield Library lies a stunning set of manuscripts in the hands of Charlotte, Emily and Anne Brontë.

The jewel of the Brontë collection is Emily Brontë's notebook of 31 poems, believed by many scholars to have been lost. This poetry notebook carries annotations in Charlotte's hand.

Never was better stuff penned

Emily Brontë, last page of her notebook of 31 poems (1844) (see bottom of left page in image below)

Jan 24 1846 -June 24 1845 -No covered soul is maint No torough is have been would's stream topological sphere. I say through granics tables And solve share square sourcing me from from How bisatiliat the Rawan is still to their, how full of Happinese. How fills to aught with bias ill Dr Shahavey pleantows of distances - Co of witchin my brists Alwighty encorporation prity Liley and in the bost with As I. Budging hile, base proget in these How Spring the being second group yet, And Summers wire game to longet percental solution than it by don't beam hold been practices hast of perchanged register when y works is part And them and wire way prime ? Vain are the through events The based much basely worklowedly value, Washed as wellbacked works 0. All for the forth a wide here bound or house When these whe were they own company. Equal is tooband and in years have seen their harding with in terr a dath watering To water doubt in one Holding so both by buy infinity So swely sectored on The stadfult pack of summoutabley Equal to control when the series in terms to dot unitarily day. Study use they did unpresent and young Betwee these bests unan unitary menning prove these bests unan unitary menning prove the series and by particular streng A units and watter page. Withis with secondarising laws, they split automate stands grant provides and transferration changes successing diseases, or rates and wood "BECOME, 5 hoped within thing this yed a And by EuroPlanat, bape data and -"All children hope, with toustof to heart is worthed Bear and chemister hat -Though Even and means were gone And some and number wand to some be And how work the stone Every Eventment would cards in theme the "A consident of find bought one soon of his we have to be the the here here. This course finder of earthof for "will sloways take and always clay... These is not prove for broke Now stam was bis unique costs product void Sive them as the Big and Bush and water there are seen being acons be declarged There is lowly take the strong day. There is lowly take weather it and the strong of the strong of the finding desertants. By a write from take the takenge is then the strong to be strong that the strong is then the strong the strong the strong the strong the strong strong strong the strong these 10 Appendic cut any anchor of prime appendic anchoron Etamity "Not an at my spirit that "State looking for what is to Be -Mate is Maple spall that the citudities while you to be you without cyles All restances half the biggetuits -The could be and they fair -"How southing and have govern gives I know ashe talls have point for obtaining wat And waters are strong to under go "wast a an even to been. Whith a dec base to being. I de last construction Whith I and barrow Reasonships of Antomars of these queues. May operate to have bereford the second operating solution at the form that and a best and a solution operator that we are any applied a writing of the Reason of the years of the solution operator Reasons and the solution operator the solution operator the solution operator operator Never was better stass provide

Emily Brontë's notebook of 31 poems. Credit: Sotheby's

The Brontë collection also includes:

- seven of Charlotte Brontë's famous 'little books', each of which is a work of art
- a manuscript collection of poems by Anne Brontë
- 25 letters by Charlotte Brontë
- a small but exquisite autograph manuscript diary note shared by Emily and Anne Brontë

- Emily Brontë's own annotated copy of a first publication of the exceptionally rare Poems of 1846
- fine presentation copies of first editions of their novels in their original cloth bindings

Sir Walter Scott

The collection contains the complete working manuscript of Sir Walter Scott's iconic novel Rob Roy.

Honour is a homicide and a bloodspiller, that gangs about making frays in the street; but Credit is a decent honest man, that sits at hame and makes the pat play.

From Sir Walter Scott's Rob Roy, 1817

The other Walter Scott gems are:

- part of the autograph manuscript of Scott's verse romance, The Lay of the Last Minstrel
- his light-hearted travel journal of a voyage off the Scottish coast in 1814
- a copy of Border Antiquities with extensive manuscript revisions
- an exceptional group of Scott first editions in their original condition will to sell firing the "said larbour displacedy" that has an a gra-net to fay a face to "store the larboury the bracks aff a distandhear or been the face to give yo has fast to firm " affend the Barthin" and such to be note to give gilling "gree distants the law group or the token the commands of all farmer therefore Induced f the harrow arten the harrow arten day of the person the so the person the so the solution the solute of the solution that are a solution of the I has with "Fin there did I bland in a faire to * At he and the forever of but had not a grant to be the strategies of the second state of the second stat in the week a days The her pufed . and . a blordet the way the Balle and I an ender the provide the way the the sur Facebornic of when the face way the the provide the according of our of the theore as the survey of the sure of a low and a survey to track the set of sure for the survey to survey the set of the facebornes. The survey of these bards and backwards a survey to the back of the facebornes. I have been and the theore back of the survey of the facebornes. . folke w A Let set has and room the first as they find it -Course on gen The while for the hurry of a have give the the realing of your tween your scepter or fundalings in the Tone of du the

Rob Roy manuscript. Credit: Sotheby's

Robert Burns

Of huge importance is a volume of poems by Robert Burns in his own hand. Known as the First Commonplace Book, it contains some of his earliest recorded literary works.

Other Burns items include:

- individual autograph poems Lass of Cessnock Banks and The Brigs of Ayr
- a group of the poet's earliest correspondence, including the only letter to his beloved father still in existence

I foresee that very probably Poverty & Obscurity await me.

Robert Burns, in the only letter written to his father (27 December 1781)

Jane Austen

Jane Austen is represented by two hugely significant letters to her sister Cassandra. Only three early such autograph letters are held in any UK national collection, the bulk being in the Morgan Library, New York.

At length the day is come on which I am to flirt my last with Tom Lefroy, and when you receive this it will be over. My tears flow at the melancholy idea.

Jane Austen, in her letter to her sister Cassandra (14 January 1796)

. Far important you are to write to mar about Some as if I had not opportunities of hearing for him anyouty. The last little that I received from that him was tates on fielday the other with the win should be farmerables on bunday, which it proved to be, they were to sails from Takorouth on that Day . By this time therefore they are at Bards: : In Suppose. The Kines are shite at hangdown sain to be at the tomorrow . Timberded to call on The hip Biggs yesterday, had the weather been Strahles. Constine, Amores & I have just Tues desmining some cold Souse, & it would be sifficilly to say which enjoyed it most -File they that I make need Br. Stearthy Lale his Estates to here for the vole use & Benefit is Juture, & not only him hat all my other Aming with the bargain whenever the case find them, as I means to confine suggely in future to M. Tom Lefing, for whom I bouch care sispence. aprice her also as a last & induktable proof of warrens ind ference to me, that he actually drew that Gentleman's picture for men & Delivered it to me without a sigh . -

Jane Austen letter to Cassandra (1796). Credit: Sotheby's

One is a very early letter, written on the eve of a ball where she anticipated the end of a love affair. The second dates from 1813 and discusses the reception of both Pride and Prejudice and Sense and Sensibility.

The collection also includes first editions of Pride and Prejudice, Emma, and Northanger Abbey and Persuasion in their original condition.

Spread across the UK

The eight consortium members will receive works by the Brontë sisters, Burns, Austen and Scott. The works will be distributed as follows:

Charlotte, Emily and Anne Brontë

- The British Library, London and York
- The Brontë Parsonage Museum, Haworth

• The Brotherton Collection, University of Leeds

Jane Austen manuscripts

- The Bodleian Library, Oxford
- Jane Austen's House Museum, Chawton

Sir Walter Scott

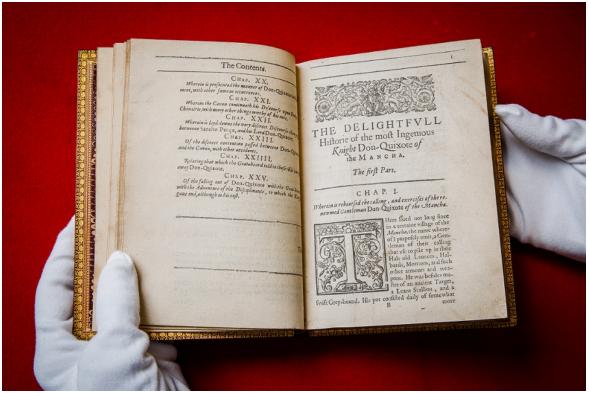

- The National Library of Scotland, Edinburgh and Glasgow (also receives Robert Burns items)
- Abbotsford: The Home of Walter Scott, Melrose, Scotland

Robert Burns

- The National Library of Scotland, Edinburgh and Glasgow (also receives Sir Walter Scott items)
- The Robert Burns Birthplace Museum, Alloway National Trust for Scotland

1,400 printed books

The Blavatnik Honresfield Library's c.1,400 printed books will be donated not only to the consortium members but also to a large number of institutions across the UK, ensuring that as many people as possible can enjoy this treasure trove of literature. FNL will not retain any of the collection.

Cervantes, The History of Don Quichote, 1620, two volumes. First complete edition in English. Credit: Sotheby's

Further details will be announced soon, alongside plans for digitisation, exhibitions, education, community activities and research projects.

With thanks to Professor Kathryn Sutherland, St Anne's College, Oxford, for her support in identifying citations from the literature.

NHMF funding available

For over 40 years, NHMF has provided financial assistance towards the acquisition, preservation and maintenance of some of the UK's finest heritage at risk of loss.

Alongside our standard funding stream, our £40m COVID-19 Response Fund is currently available and providing a lifeline for nationally important heritage assets affected by the pandemic.

Stay updated about the NHMF

To hear the latest news about NHMF funding:

- Follow us on LinkedIn and Instagram
- Sign up to our mailing list