

Jamie Korner

Jamie Korner read History at Cambridge and joined Inchcape in 1978 where he served in various roles, both in the UK and overseas, with a final posting to East Africa where he was responsible for the rationalisation of the Inchcape companies there.

His city career spanned periods at Fielding Newson Smith and Co (taken over by County Natwest) and at M&G, where he managed charitable and institutional funds. He later joined Newton Investment Management in 1995 where he served as Director of Charities until 2011.

He retired as Charities Partner at Stanhope Capital LLP in 2019 and acts as trustee of, and adviser to, various charities in the educational and arts fields.
